

School of Information Legacy Challenge

Frequently Asked Questions

What types of planned gifts qualify for the School of Information Legacy Challenge?

Planned gifts eligible for challenge funds include bequests via will or living trust, beneficiary designations from a retirement account or bank account, charitable gift annuities, charitable remainder trusts, charitable lead trusts, and beneficiary designations of a life insurance policy given to the college — in this case, the challenge funds will be based on the existing cash amount in the policy.

Gifts that count toward the challenge include:

- Newly documented planned gifts of $25,000 or more.
- Planned gifts that you have already documented (thank you!) and are now increasing by $25,000 or more.

Why is it important to document my planned gift?

Gift documentation is vital for a number of reasons. First, we want to ensure we meet your wishes. Documenting now allows you and the School of Information to clarify your intentions and ensure that we can implement them to the fullest extent possible. Second, when we know you are making a gift, we can update you on any changes that may affect it. Third, planned gifts are a vital source of funding, and participation inspires participation. Your gift can motivate others to give, creating a multiplier effect that benefits our future students, faculty and programs. Fourth, we want to acknowledge you. Documenting your gift enrolls you in the Texas Leadership Society — a family of over 2,000 generous Longhorn alumni and friends who receive special opportunities and recognition.

What if I document but then I change my mind or my circumstances change?

Documenting your gift does not create a legally binding contract. We know that priorities and circumstances can change. So, while we hope you will continue to support UT, we know that what you intend to do now may change in the future. If this is the case, please make the updates you need to and let us know.

If I have already documented a planned gift with the School of Information, will it qualify for the Legacy Challenge?

First, thank you for supporting the school and documenting your planned gift! We are truly grateful. However, previously documented gifts do not count towards the Legacy Challenge. But if you would like to increase the amount of your gift, that increase will count as long as it is at least $25,000.

How do I document my planned gift for the Legacy Challenge?

To document your planned gift or increase an existing gift, please contact our Gift & Estate Planning team at giftplan@austin.texas.edu or 512-475-9632.

Where can I designate my additional challenge funds?

You can designate your additional challenge funds to any area(s) of the school that is most meaningful to you, and you can further designate it to support students, faculty or programmatic efforts. If you have an existing endowment at the School of Information, you may also direct your funds there.

Once I document a planned gift, what amount of additional challenge funds for immediate use will be given to the School of Information program or area that I choose?

The amount of additional challenge funds is based on a sliding scale. Estate gifts from $25,000-$100,000 will receive $2,500 in challenge funds. Gifts from $100,000- $250,000 will receive $5,000 in challenge funds. Gifts above $250,000 will receive challenge funds at 2% of the gift amount with a limit of $10,000.

Note: Challenge funds are limited and available on a first-come, first-served basis.
